The print "Kara 2009", was shot in my garage with two lights. Camera used was a Nikon D2X; ISO 100, Nikon 28-105.0 mm at 5.6. Kara is my granddaughter and is now in the 8th grade.

Starburst

By Dave Youngs

The original hummingbird photo was taken with a Canon 5D mk3 with a 100-400 mm lens at 330 mm, f/7.1, ss 1/200 with flash. PhotoShop was used to select and then copy the hummingbird from the background. This "seed" image was then copied to multiple layers and manipulated using the Transform tools. Playing around with these tools produced the image here.

Twenty Mule Team Canyon, Death Valley

By Loye Stone

It was a steep climb to get in position for this shot but it was worth the effort. I love Death Valley. It is a photographers paradise. Canon 5d Mark III, F/8, 24/105 lens (80mm), 1/100 sec, 200 ISO.

Mountain Splendor at Convict Lake

By Karen Emrich

In July 2014, my husband and I were on a short vacation on the east side of the Sierras. A friend told us about Convict Lake, named after a group of convicts who escaped from a nearby Carson City prison in September 1871.

The lake is well known for good fishing, especially for trout. But our friend told us that it was also known as being one of the most beautiful lakes in the Eastern Sierras. We loaded ourselves, the camera (no tripod), and some fishing gear into the car, and off we went.

The weather was crisp and clear, typical of our beautiful California mountains in the summer time! When we arrived at Convict Lake, we took one look and knew that the camera was coming out of the car for lots of pictures!

I used a Canon Digital Rebel T3i set for evaluative metering in RAW picture mode. I took lots of shots, but this one was my favorite. I loved the way the light seemed to almost reflect off the mountains, the multi-hued colors, and the clear blue sky with all those clouds!!

Every shot that I took that day was taken using the camera's bracketing feature, three pictures each time I pressed the shutter button. The primary shot was the base picture for HDR processing with one darker exposure and one lighter. The three pictures were merged for HDR processing in Photomatrix Pro. The final picture was my attempt at reproducing, as closely as possible, what my human eye saw that day at Convict Lake.

Canon Digital Rebel T3i, Canon 24-105 f/4L at 24mm, base picture f/10, 1/160s, ISO 200.
