As summer approaches and spring begins to fade, vacation season will soon be upon us. I'm sure that many of you have great plans for the summer, just remember to shoot some good photos as you are having your vacations. I don't have vacations any more, I go on photo trips. I remember vacations, sitting by the pool in an exotic location, sipping on an umbrella topped beverage. Now I spend my time "framing" images with my hands and instead of googling bikini-clad beach babes, I worry that I have the correct f-stop setting on my camera while photographing them. I think that relaxation is overrated (that's my excuse).

I look forward to seeing what our members produce for the up-coming "one song, digital slide show competition". I'm sure that after our Instructional program, a few months ago, about Pro-Show Gold, you are all experts. If anyone needs help, please don't hesitate to let me know. This event will be held at our next digital competition night in June.

The Field trip to the McKenzie Table Mountain preserve was not as well attended as we would have liked, but those of us that were there enjoyed the beautiful scenery. I had envisioned photographing wildflowers, but, this is what I don't get, if it is a preserve, why do they let cows eat all of the wildflowers? Why are cows there period? There certainly were plenty of squirrels and birds to photograph, but of course I didn't take the big lens; my bad.

Lee Cates, FPSA and John Greening are to be congratulated for their hard work and personal sacrifices, in organizing the PSA Youth Showcase for 2012. Judges Pat Gosland, Gary Stewart and Jonathan Rollins are to be likewise, congratulated. (see story on page 7).

The digital slide show, on program night, of the winners in the 2012 San Joaquin Valley International, in Color and Nature divisions was well attended and enjoyed by all. We had a few technical problems, but overcame them and completed the show in a timely manner. Shirley Ward FPSA, EPSA, General Manager of the International, was in attendance and should be applauded for her work and personal sacrifices in putting this Exhibition together every year.

We are all looking forward to seeing your vacation images at our upcoming competitions.

See you out there,

Loye Stone

April In Porterville

It doesn't sound as romantic as April in Paris, but I don't believe Paris can equal the almost intoxicating fragrance of orange blossoms permeating April nights in Porterville in the heart of the Citrus Belt. In April of 1984 we had a couple of jobs in Porterville to photograph interiors at Jack-in-the-Box and exteriors & interiors at a bank. Since I like to shoot exteriors morning and afternoon, we decided to spend the night. We had dinner at a place on the second floor of a downtown building called the Palace Hotel Dining Room and then went to the downtown Porter Theater which was a pleasant walk from the restaurant. The film showing was the comedy 'Police Academy' The highlight of the trip was experiencing the orange blossom fragrance. We enjoyed the orange blossoms (and the dinner) so much, the following year we made another overnight trip to Porterville in mid-April. After dinner at the Palace Hotel Dining Room we went to the Porter Theater and lo and behold 'Police Academy 2' was on. The next year, 1986. I phoned the theater ahead of time to see if 'Police Academy 3' was playing. It was and we made the trip again and again in 1987 to have dinner, watch 'Police Academy 4' and enjoy the mid April fragrance. We called these our "Orange Blossom/Police Academy" Trips. Some years later, coming home from Bakersfield, on a cold winter morning, we detoured and drove through Porterville. Somehow, downtown didn't look as nice and tidy as it did before. The Porter Theater looked forbidding. No Palace Hotel Dining Room. There was a new 'twin' theater at a strip mall away from downtown, but that's not the same. In subsequent years I suggested to Tom that we do one more April trip to Porterville, take a DVD of 'Police Academy I' (the first was the best of the series) and watch it on my laptop in our motel room but we never did.

The Manson Truck in Panamint Valley By Hanna Barsam, APSA

Panamint Valley is next to and west of Death Valley and is separated from Death Valley by the Panamint Mountains. The Manson gang had set up camp in a canyon in the Panamint mountains. When the police raided the camp one of the members of the gang, Tex Watson, escaped in this truck down into Panamint Valley but did not get very far. His truck became mired in Panamint Dry Lake bed so he left it and walked to Trona. He was later captured. By the way, the camp was raided because some Park equipment had been torched and vandalized in nearby Saline Valley and the Rangers were tipped off by some campers that the perpetrators were 'the hippies' at Goler Wash in the Panamints. They also found a stolen vehicle there. At that time they didn't know about the connection to the L.A. murders. The truck was later towed to Ballarat by the Ballarat folks.

Ballarat dates back to the mining days of 1800s, born in 1896 as a supply center for the nearby mines. During the years 1897-1905 population numbered 400-500 and featured 7 saloons, 3 hotels, a post office, school, Wells Fargo station, a jail and morgue. And probably a brothel but no church. It is privately owned by some people in Southern California. Now there is only one resident who is caretaker and known as the Mayor of Ballarat and runs a small store. Tom and I have stopped there for a cold drink and a visit with the Mayor a few times. Other than the store, there's a scattering of abandoned dwellings, many of them adobe gradually melting away, and an ancient cemetery. Seldom Seen Slim, the most famous early resident, was buried there in 1968 having lived in Ballarat since 1917. His death was noted in the national media as he was deemed to be the last of a dying breed: the last of the "Single Blanket Jackass Prospectors". His epitaph is comprised of one his favorite sayings: "Me lonely? Hell no! I'm half coyote and half wild burro."

The airspace over Panamint Valley is used by military aircraft from Nellis, Edwards, China Lake, and Lemoore for high and low altitude mission training. We were buzzed a few times. It was quite a thrill, actually startling, once when the pilot suddenly overtook us from behind flying extremely low as we were driving up the narrow winding road over the Slate Range Pass. I thought we were going to be run over.

I love Panamint Valley. The Panamint mountains tower over the east side of the valley, crowned by 11,000 thousand foot high snow capped Telegraph Peak and form the west side of Death Valley. Telegraph Peak is visible from parts of Owens Valley to the East, Antelope Valley on the South and even from farther East, Pahrump, Nevada. Often, when leaving the valley near sundown on our way to Ridgecrest for the night we parked on the top of the pass overlooking the valley to watch the setting sun cast a rosy glow over the mountain range. I feel a very strong emotional connection to the place. Maybe in another life and time I was a miner there. I don't know.

PSA Youth Showcase Results

The judges, Pat Gosland, Gary Stewart and Jonathan Rollins, judged 130 prints collected from 4 high schools in Clovis and Riverdale Christian Academy, and 36 digital images from 4 high schools in Clovis and Lemoore High School, that were processed by John Greening. The judging was held at Hope Lutheran Church on Friday, April 20th. One print from each school and one digital image was selected to receive a Fresno Camera Club Award.

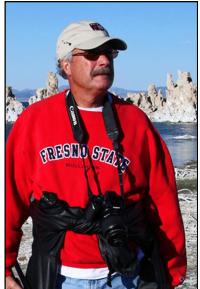

Eighteen prints were sent to Nationals to be judged in mid May with all other prints from high schools around the nation, and also eleven digital images will be sent by John Greening to Nationals. This is the first year that there is a Digital Images Division.

There will be a Best of Show chosen in each division, and the winners will each receive $350 and a year's membership in PSA. Ist Place winners in each category of each division will receive $150. Prints and digital images will be displayed at the PSA Conference in San Francisco in September. The winners from Nationals will appear in the September issue of the PSA Journal which is distributed around the world. Photography teachers and students were invited to the May 15th meeting to receive certificates and rewards.

Yellowstone National Park- Weird and Wonderful

By Loye Stone

Shelley, Dee and I recently returned from a trip to Yellowstone National Park and Jackson Hole Wyoming, the home of the Grand Tetons National Park. Yosemite is, in my opinion, the most beautiful place on earth, but Yellowstone and the Grand Tetons are a close second. Yellowstone is both weird and wonderful. Weird, in that it is no surprise to anyone and doesn't seem to worry anyone (except me), that gases and steam just come out of the ground, helter-skelter, along with boiling mud pits, anywhere that they want. These gaseous vents range in size from "Old Faithful" to just little wisps coming out of the grass in the middle of a meadow. I didn't let on much, but I wanted to get the heck out of that area. The cold mornings and the rising sun back-lighting these steam vapors is truly a magnificent and beautifully eerie site to see.

Lamar Valley in Yellowstone is where most of the wildlife hang out. Small herds of bison, elk and antelope were just about every place we looked and they all have the right of way. Approaching a bridge in our vehicle, we encountered a small herd of bison that didn't want to cross the bridge and didn't seem to know what their next move was going to be, apart from blocking us from crossing the bridge. The motorist behind, went around us and nudged his way through with other cars following him. That was not my intention, and didn't seem to be the right thing to do, as the bison seemed a bit agitated at that point, but I got in line and followed them through and over the bridge. We were lucky they didn't smash our cars.

We saw (and photographed most) Bison, Elk, Antelope, Mule Deer, a Wolf, a Coyote, Mountain Goats, Rabbits, Pica, Bear, Moose, and a few Birds that I had not seen before. Yellowstone is truly a wildlife photographers paradise. Of course, we were there a little late to see the male Elk and Rams dukeing it out to see which one gets the best babes.

Jackson Hole, a gorgeous and clean western town reminiscent of downtown Clovis, is the home of the National Elk Reserve as well as a Moose Reserve. The Grand Tetons are jaw- dropping beautiful, and are a but a stone's throw away. We had breakfast and a lunch at the old Silver Dollar Saloon that has a huge, serpentine shaped, bar that is covered with epoxy encased real silver dollars. They call it the million dollar bar. We will return to Jackson Hole.

Driving to and returning home after 3,500 miles can be exhausting, and there is not much to see going and coming except that we were very impressed at what a beautiful city Logan, Utah is. Salt Lake City was not a good experience and didn't seem to be a place that we will return to.

My computer is loaded with about 3,000 new images and I can't wait to process them. Wherever your heart takes you this summer, I hope that you all have as great an experience as we did on our trip to Yellowstone.

PSA Annual Conference: Overview

One of the most enjoyable activities of PSA is the week-long Annual Conference. The Annual Conference is held in September or October in a different location each year. Last years conference was held in Colorado Springs, Colorado. All locations are in the United States because of the difficulty in transporting the prints, society supplies, and awards across borders. The past PSA Conference locations illustrate the great variety of photography settings that participants have enjoyed. Background information can be found in the history of the PSA Annual Conference that was prepared for the PSA 75th Anniversary.

During the Annual Conference registrants can participate in photo tours, classes, workshops, and photo shoots. There is an Opening Meeting of the Society with award presentations, an extensive Print Exhibition, a variety of programs, featured speakers in the evenings, social events, a vendor area with product demonstrations, numerous photographic activities, and a Banquet on the last evening.

The PSA Annual Conference is the social event of the year. For many members, it is their first PSA activity. The Conference is a great way to meet people, have a personal encounter with someone whose photography is known, and renew longtime acquaintances.

So plan now for the 2012 PSA Conference in San Francisco, in San Francisco at the San Francisco Airport Marriott Water Front Hotel in Burlingame. September 16 – 22, 2012. Visit http://www.psa-photo.org/conference/2012-psa-conference/ for more information
